What Does She See When She Shuts Her Eyes

Sabina Ott & Dana Berman Duff

Friday, January 11 – Saturday, February 16, 2019

Opening reception: Friday, January 11th 5:00 - 8:00 pm

Aspect/Ratio is pleased to present What Does She See When She Shuts Her Eyes, the final work by the late celebrated Chicago-based artist, Sabina Ott: an installation made in collaboration with her close friend of 35 years, Dana Berman Duff.

The sculpture and video works invoke the siege of the female body and its liberation from corporeal existence through a watery upheaval. The exhibition includes videos of lava tubes and ice caves with spiraling haiku by Stephanie Barber, original sound design by A.J. McClenon, handmade “lava rocks” in clay, along with a snowy Styrofoam mountainside. There will be several small, personal videos by Duff playing on face-up flat screen monitors in a collage cluster reminiscent of lily pads.

In Ott's Ethical Will, written at the end of her life, she says that she likes the idea that we come from water and return to water. Duff attempts to return Ott to water in the large two-channel, two-screen video transforming the gallery into the center of a lava tube. The video and sound installation will sweep the viewers back and forth, from below to above and back again.

Ott said of her large installation at Hyde Park Art Center in 2016, “I’ve always believed that my artworks offer a place where trauma can be transformed into something else by turning things inside out and dislodging them into a space of pure play.” Duff’s intention is to create a space of healing for the art community of Chicago from the traumatic loss of one of its most beloved members.

Sabina Ott (1955 - 2018) is known for her broad range of work—from painting to installation to sculpture—and her central role in the art world as teacher, administrator, and recently, as the founder of the exhibition space Terrain, which invited artists to create installations and performances using the exterior of her former Oak Park home. She earned both her BFA and MFA from the San Francisco Art Institute. Exhibiting since 1985, Ott has participated in over 100 solo and group exhibitions at institutions in Sao Paulo, Brazil; Auckland, New Zealand; Melbourne, Australia; and many cities across the US.
