

Xie Hongdong is a self-taught photographer who lives and works in Beijing, China. He has maintained his photography practice since 2012. Influenced by his upbringing in Gansu Province, China, Xie Hongdong reveals the natural world using light and shadows through a controlled lens.

With an honest approach to photography without manipulation, Xie Hongdong creates and exposes natural, yet evocative, images that reveal the overlooked or forgotten. Central to his practice is exploring the connections between his external environment and his subconscious mind. Xie seeks to draw attention to the very beauty that lies both in front of us, and inside of us, all collectively.

XIE HONGDONG (Lives and works in Beijing, China)

SOLO AND TWO PERSON EXHIBITIONS

- 2021 Intentional Attention, Xie Hongdong and Cameron Gainer, Aspect/Ratio Projects, Chicago, IL
- 2016 Dust-Light, curated by James Elaine, Clerkenwell Space, Beijing, China

GROUP EXHIBITIONS

- 2020 A Composite Leviathan, Bridge Projects, Los Angeles, CA
- 2018 Inside the Reed and Ice Crystal, Stanley Fung and Xie Hongdong Exhibition, Artrue Taipei, Taiwan